TORONTO, C. W., July 23, 1860.

PUBLIC WORKS.

The dullness and monetary pressure really seem to be passing away and the market getting freer. Public works are being pushed ahead at a most frightful velocity. The Grand Trunk Railway are doing an immense business, and they are not letting their earnings rest in their safes; for improvements along the whole extent of their road are being rapidly made, and thousands given employment. The N. R. of C. (formerly Ontario and Simcoe) are doing an immense lumber business. The back country is now beginning to pour a golden harvest into the market. So you need not wonder at the present glorious prospect of hard times passing away. The increase in the receipts on the Northern, for the week ending July 14th, 1860, over the corresponding period of 1859 are $51,576.09. The Great Western is only $34,65, and that of the Grand Trunk exceeding both.

POLITICS.

In the political world matters are at a stand still. The only theme now before the public being the Seignioral Tenure correspondence, between the Hon. J. S. Macdonald and the Hon. Geo. Brown, in which the names of Messrs. Foley and Conner are being freely used. There is a row brewing in the camp. The political jugglers can't agree and there is therefore a possibility of their constituents getting at the true state of matters. Each party is endeavoring to paint in glowing colors the character of their opponents, and in the light shed in the expose of some of their jobberies, I think some of the M. P.'s will have hard hunting to find a constituency. The plain simple truth is, a good honest and wholesome opposition in matters of government will be and are a blessing to any country, but when opposition is made merely on speculation, why then the reverse must follow. Poor Canada has much of her suffering to blame to this unwholesome and pernicious system of jobbery. It is the great evil, especially to a new country—may Providence in its wise behest long spare Victoria.

THE PRINCE OF WALES—HARD TIMES
The Prince of Wales' pending visit is also making quite a stir. With his immense retinue he will visit every city and place of note in the British Provinces; and also most of the large cities of the neighboring Republic. Considerable work to mechanics is thus afforded by repairing, fitting-up, papering, painting, and decorating public buildings everywhere. Thousands and thousands will be expended, in order to make a great show, and should next winter prove as hard as its predecessor, the poor will be at starvation's door, and there will be no money to carry on public works, in order to give them even the shadow of a living. "Live to-day, let to-morrow provide for itself,"—this is public economy.

CROPS.

The weather has been very warm for the past fortnight, and the wheat and other grain crops begin to assume the golden hue—the clear, sharp ringing of scythe and sickle sounds throughout the country. Appearances indicate a bountiful crop. There was, in the early part of the season, a great hue and cry raised over the appearance of the midge. Generally speaking, the alarm was false. The only part of the country affected to any extent is the western, or southwestern—that portion between Hamilton and Niagara—and even here it is not as severe as anticipated. The accounts from the London Districts—all north of Toronto.

Scarboro', Markham, Pinkney, Whitby, Darlington, Hope, and all the east, speak of a rich harvest, and thus confidence begins to buoy every body up.

IMPORTS—BRIGHT TIMES AHEAD.

The tables of imports at Montreal have been made up for the six months of the current year. The decline in business has been very considerable, as compared with the corresponding period of last year. The imports in June, 1859, were $1,253,178; in June, 1860, $1,029,427; decrease, $223,751. For the six months ending June 30th, 1859, the imports at Montreal of dutiable goods, were $6,736,749; of free goods, $1,814,144; total, $8,550,893. For the six months ending June 30th, 1860, the imports of dutiable goods were $5,849,599; of free goods, $1,165,115; total, $7,024,714. The decrease in imports during the first six months of the present year has therefore been no less than $1,536,179, as compared with the corresponding period of 1859. The amount of duties collected in the first six months of 1859, was $1,275,311; in the first six months of 1860, $1,153,444; decrease, $139,567. From the tables published last week, relative to the trade of Toronto, it appeared that at this port during the same period, there has been a decrease in imports of $341,979, and in duties of $20,516, as compared with the corresponding period of last year.

Now this is not in the least surprising, when we take into consideration the heavy failures in the past twelve months. Prior to this, merchants imported too heavily—their goods were in the market and must be disposed of; they were forced into the hands of the people; crops and banks failed—the people failed—merchants failed, and all business came to a dead-lock, except sheriffs, bailiffs, lawyers and auctioneers. They have done nothing for eight or ten months but litigate, seize and sell, and sell till all has been sold out; and now as there is naught left, they pause for breath, and during this pause agriculture smiles—business begins to revive, and again the march is onward and upward.

THE ECLIPSE.

The eclipse on the 18th, partially visible here, did not amount to a great deal—rather than to bring a change in the weather—heavy rain, strong winds—and a little cooler atmosphere.

NEW ARRIVALS.

We are beginning strongly in the patent line to imitate our neighbors over the way. Patent fences, churns, reapers, mowers, washing machines, clothes pegs, thimbles, hoop skirts, &c., &c., are the order of the day—every trivial invention is now patented. By a statistical report, I find that from the 1st of January to 30th May, sixty-eight patents have been granted, Western Canada claiming by far the majority—but what is most singular, not one of the claimants names shows a French origin.

FIRE AND LIVES LOST.

The village of Morrison township of Puslinch has been almost entirely consumed by fire, as has also St. Eloi, at Riviere du Loup. In the last named place two women and three children fell victims to the devouring element.

Wednesday Morning, Sept. 5, 1860.

Light Dues and Pilotage.

Free trade and free ports are cardinal doctrines of our policy. We like them; and we do not know who don't. The Duke of Newcastle, however, rather doubted in his dispatches to Gov. Douglas, whether we could carry out the doctrine successfully. We believe we can; and what is more than that we will. It is the only really enlightened and progressive doctrine to which the local government lends a cordial support. They have written down "direct taxation and free ports," and we are not willing that they shall blot it out. The "Pilot bill" and "light House bill" appear, however, to have worried some of the government guides into a high state of excitement. Only pass both these and Victoria begins its decadence. Such is the logic of government free-port extremists. We do not think so. We certainly would prefer to see vessels come and go without compulsory light-dues and compulsory pilotage. We would also like matrimony and a pension of £1000 a year; but when we cannot get them we are willing to keep bachelor's hall and live the best way we can. Both light and pilots are essential to the safety of the commerce of the port; and till some better means can be suggested to defray the expense of both without directly taxing shipping, we cannot oppose either measure.

Had the government listened to the voice of reason as well as justice, and co-operated with the Reformers, in doors and out doors, we would have drawn from the town-site claim enough funds to have kept every department in a high state of efficiency for years without a cent of taxation either on real estate, shipping, landing permits, or by licences. It has chosen different course, however, and the steady accumulation of taxes are recorded every day. We have got dues and pilotage. The daily increasing importance of our port proves more and more the necessity for pilots. Had there been a pilot-boat kept at sea, it is more than probable the accident to the bark Glimpse would never have occurred. Had there been a light at the mouth of our harbor, it is not very likely that she would have been wrecked at Clover Point; and nothing but sheer neglect, or running her ashore intentionally, could have ever laid her up high and dry two or three miles from the entrance of the port. We know one merchant who lost over two thousand dollars in merchandise by that disaster. It was uninsured. That sum alone would have been ample to keep a small light burning for a year. Many others not only lost large amounts through being uninsured—and any agent may occasionally neglect to insure his shipment till too late—but also through the loss entailed by being forced to purchase supplies in this market to keep up their stocks. In fact, the losses to our merchants, direct and indirect, by the wrecking of the Glimpse, would have supported a sufficient number of branch pilots to serve the port; would have paid the expenses of a light-house; and would then have left a surplus to spare. Here, then, is a convincing instance of the injury resulting from the want of the lights and branch pilots that have raised the ire of the government organ, just as we have a chance of getting them. Some folks are penny-wise and pound-foolish; and in that category we place all those who are opposed to ships paying pilotage and light dues, without showing another source from which both can be kept in a state of efficiency.

We must naturally conclude that there is something much more remarkable about a free port than a dutiable port, when ships and steamers can approach the former during the night or day without danger, and with greater benefit to the port; whilst the world over every dutiable port of note has its lights and pilots; and the safety of their commerce depends on them. To say that we can build up our commerce without them is too ridiculous almost to require denial. In an Obstructive latitude like ours, however, attempts are made even to disprove the most self-evident propositions; and consequently the idea of starving our pilots and locking up the harbor at sunset and opening it at the dawn of day, may with all truth be marked as another plank in the Obstructive platform.

We remember in August, 1858, the brig Ellen H. Wood, approaching this port; but mistaking the entrance to Victoria harbor for that of Esquimalt, was bearing directly for Brothie's ledge, in order to enter our harbor by rounding the south side of Clover Point. Had it not been for a passenger on board who knew the entrance, in two minutes she would have been a wreck. Every body remembers the steamer Eliza Anderson on the down trip at night running into Esquimalt instead of mooring herself at Myer's wharf. Instances could be multiplied of lucky escapes. But these we have cited are sufficient to show the advantages to our commerce and the necessity that exists both for Victoria branch pilots and a Victoria lighthouse.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Sergeant Weihe and special officer Phillips, on Monday night, between twelve and one o'clock, arrested a man named John Ewing, while he was in the act of taking a purse containing money from the pocket of Jephtha S. Powell. On the way to the station house, $375 was taken from Ewing's hand; and after reaching jail, Sergeant Weihe compelled him to open his mouth and found a $5 piece under his tongue. Subsequently, the same officer went to Monatti's saloon on Johnson street and recovered three $20 pieces, which had been left there by Ewing a short time before his arrest. Yesterday morning the case was heard before Judge Pemberton, and it came out in evidence that both the men had been working at a saw-mill near Saanich; that they were paid off yesterday, and their employer not having any change, gave the amount due both to one of the men in $20 pieces, with the understanding that he was to get it changed in town and give the other man his share. The parties strolled around yesterday, bought some goods, and in the evening got tight, and were both drunk when arrested. They were friends previous to this occurrence, and received good characters from their employers. Ewing says he took the money from Powell to put it into safe hands until they got sober; and alleges that his share of the money was in the hands of Powell. The case was sent to the Court of Quarter Sessions for trial in October next.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT TO ROCK CREEK.—By the Wilson G. Hunt, last evening, we dispatched a special correspondent to Rock Creek, who, immediately upon his arrival, transmitted to us a full and reliable information of matters in that region. Our correspondent will also journey down the Valley of the Similkameen, and report upon the various trails, and the easiest modes of reaching the new mines. All the information thus furnished us will be perfectly reliable. It is our intention, as heretofore, to spare no expense in giving our readers correct and late news.

VICTORIA PRICES NOWHERE.—Victoria prices of fruit and garden vegetables are excelled in London. Owing to the unfavorable state of the weather throughout England, garden products, at last accounts, were very high. Strawberries were $1 50 per pound; cherries 50 cents; last year's apples $1 per dozen; asparagus 75 cents per 100; peas $1 25 per peck; tomatoes 50 cents per dozen. Who can grumble at paying a "bit" apiece for apples after that?

ANOTHER NEW STEAMER.—Capt. Jamison, well known throughout Oregon as a successful steamboat man, has just laid the keel for a new side-wheel steamer, to run between Victoria and Port Douglas. The vessel will be 120 feet long, 20 feet beam, and 5 1/2 feet hold. She is being built in the neighborhood of the Songish village, and is the fourth steamer in process of construction in our harbor.

LATER FROM THE SOUND.—The U. S. mail steamer Eliza Anderson arrived from the Sound last evening. Capt. Fleming has laid late exchanges upon our table. A soldier named McCarthy was killed near Steilacoom on the 25th ult., by another named Dewitt Gardner. Gardner is in custody. The news from Rock Creek via Seattle is very encouraging.

NEW BUOY.—John H. Titcomb, Fraser river pilot, received information, four days ago, of the disappearance of one of the buoys at the mouth of that stream, and last evening took up the iron and stone for a new buoy, on the steamer Wilson G. Hunt. It will be dropped from the steamer to-day, on her return trip.

DEPARTURE OF THE "PACIFIC."—This steamer left for San Francisco about five o'clock yesterday morning. She carried down about 40 passengers. Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped by her $34,803 in treasure.

IN QUOD.—There are now thirty-three prisoners in jail confined on criminal charges, and two insane persons.

The H. B. Society.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST.—The report in your issue of yesterday, to the effect that a meeting of the Hebrew Benevolent Society had been held the Sunday previous, at which an election for officers had taken place, is unfounded—no such meeting or election having been held.

Yours, etc. THE SECRETARY.
Victoria, Sept. 4th, 1860.

THE ROBINSON FAMILY.—This talented theatrical troupe performed to a crowded house on Saturday evening last at Steilacoom, and have gone on to Olympia. Wherever they go they are well received—as they deserve to be. They may be expected "home again" in about ten days.

ANOTHER NEW GOLD FIELD.—A report was in circulation about town last evening, to the effect that rich gold diggings had been struck near Seattle, W. T.; but we could not trace the report to an authentic source.

FOR THE RIVER.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt left for the river at eight o'clock last evening, having on board about eighty tons of freight and five beef cattle. She also had about forty passengers—one-half of whom were bound for the Rock Creek mines.

FOR THE RIVER.—The steamer Caledonia is to be placed on the route between this point and New Westminster.

DISRAELI.—Disraeli, the great English statesman, will shortly visit Canada and the United States.

Sec. 28—The overseer of roads shall have power to order out each of the inhabitants as he may see fit, in case of any road or bridge becoming impassable or obstructed, by giving twenty-four hours' notice.

Sec. 29—Every overseer is to make returns of the number of day's work performed on the roads in his district, and of the persons performing the same, together with an account of the expenditure, to the county commissioners.

Sec. 40—Providing for the infliction of a fine of not less than £5 nor more than £10, for any neglect of duty etc., on the part of the overseer.

Sec. 41 and 42—The overseers are to be paid ten shillings per day whilst employed on the roads, and the assessors twelve shillings and sixpence per day.

Sec. 43—The clerk of the commissioners is to receive twelve shillings and sixpence for each meeting of said commissioners.

Sec. 44—Providing for the payment of all monies received into the county treasury.

Sec. 45—Giving the county commissioners powers to alter the line of a road, provided always that the road supplied shall be better in all respects than the old one.

Sec. 46 and 47—Provides for the laying out of private roads, when desired by any owner of land, by the commissioners.

Sec. 49—This act shall not be applicable in any county where no persons can be found to take upon themselves the duties of commissioners.

Sec. 50 (and last)—This act may be cited as the Road Act for 1860.

Upon the passage of the last section, the Committee rose and reported the bill completed.

House adjourned to Tuesday, 4th inst., at 3 o'clock.

The Syrian Massacre.

Our European exchanges come to us filled with the most heart-rending accounts of the late fearful massacres in Syria by the Druses. The cause of the outbreak on the part of those human fiends is not yet satisfactorily stated. By some, the Turks are accused of stirring up the Druses to commit their bloody work. But a German (Viennaj paper has created a great excitement throughout Europe, and called down a storm of indignation upon its editor's head, by stating that French priests (instructed by Louis Napoleon) had instigated the bloody work, in order that that Emperor might have an excuse for seizing upon Turkey, and eventually driving the Mahomedans back into Asia. There is hardly room to doubt but these massacres will prove the downfall of the Orientals in Europe, and that the country will eventually be held by England and France, and possibly Russia. But the statement that French emissaries have caused the slaughter is unworthy of credence. An American missionary, writing to a Boston paper from Beyroot, under date of June 23d, says:

Dier-el-Kamer, a town of several thousand inhabitants, is no longer. Some twenty or thirty persons alone were saved. The dead, who can number them? and the widows and orphans, who can tell their distress? After to-day, Dier-el-Kamer will probably be uninhabitable, for some time, from the stench of so many hundreds of unburied dead bodies. All the people of the town referred to were deliberately slaughtered in cold blood, after they had given up their arms to the Turkish authorities. The Turks, after disarming them, turned them over to the Druses, who put them to the sword, aided by the Turkish soldiery. Beyroot is in danger; and Damascus has only been preserved from destruction by the efforts of the famous Algerine chief, Ab-del-Kader, who has organized an efficient corps, which patrols the city day and night. But the alarm is very great even now, and letters appealing for help come by every mail.

Such an intense excitement prevails at this moment as to prevent us from finishing this letter. Christians have closed their shops and have retired to their houses, where they tremble awaiting the issue. Moslems are rushing about the town crying "This is the time to kill the Christians," and their women and their children are rushing about the streets shouting, "May God cut off the Christians." It is impossible for us to buy provisions, and our servants are rendered useless from fear. Christians have been beaten, and some of them most severely.

Later intelligence than the above speaks of the safety of Beyroot, but says that the country is gone.

The Paris Journal des Debats, publishes a letter from Father Rousseau, of the Jesuit Mission in Syria. The details which he furnishes, and written on the spot, are heart-rending and frightful. The Vicar-General of the Beyroot district had been cut into four pieces, with his brother and sister, and their remains thrown to the dogs. The Turks, he says, rejoice in such sights, and say: "See, here, these Christians and their priests, is it not natural that the dogs, their equals, should make a good meal of them?" The stench of the dead bodies all around, under the excessive heat, is described as insupportable. Twelve hundred Christians of Gazine were surrounded in a wood by the Druses, and murdered and burnt. A woman met by one of these savages, with her three children, was made to sit down while he slaughtered her infants on her lap! A Maronite curé, with five young children, was cut to pieces himself, and the children torn limb from limb. The whole country is ravaged by fire and sword, and hundreds are perishing of want in the woods and mountains. "We have collected more than five hundred children," the same letter says, "all of them now orphans."

PRINCE JEROME BONAPARTE.—Prince Jerome's estate promises to breed trouble among his heirs. M. Gaillardet, in his letter to the Courrier des Etats Unis, writes:

On dit that the Emperor will bestow on the Prince Imperial, and not on Prince Napoleon, the annual revenue of a million francs, which became vacant in the civil list by the death of Prince Jerome, and to indemnify the Princess Mathilde for the unequal portion which her father left her in his will, he (the Emperor) will allow her the rentals of the stores in Palais Royal, which brought to Prince Jerome a supplementary revenue of 200,000 francs yearly. The Independence Belge confirms what I have already informed you, of the intention of the Bonaparte-Patterson family of Baltimore to contest at law their claims as heirs of Prince Jerome. The Privy Council will decide this case.

THE BRITISH COLONIAL EMPIRE.—A Canadian paper gives the following condensed sketch of the British Colonial Empire; British India, of which Hindostan contains a population of 140,000,000 of human souls—90,000,000 of these being subjects of Great Britain, 40,000,000 the subjects of allies, and 10,000,000 the subjects of independent states. This region, the seat of the present insurrection, extends from the 8th to the 34th degree of north latitude, and from the 69th to the 92d degree of east longitude, being from north to south in length 1800 miles, and from east to west 1500 miles. Next in importance to the East India possessions are those of West India, comprising Jamaica, Trinidad, Grenada, St. Vincent, Barbadoes, St. Lucia, Dominica, the Islands of Antigua, Nevis, Montserrat, St. Christopher or St. Kitts, Tortola, Anguilla, the Bahamas, and the Bermudas. Then comes South America, with British Guiana, Central America, with Honduras; then comes British North America: Lower Canada, Upper Canada, Nova Scotia, Cape Breton, the Sable Islands, New Brunswick, Prince Edward's Island, Newfoundland, the Labrador coast, and the Hudson Bay Company's territories. Turning to the East again, we find the large islands of Ceylon, the Prince of Wales Island, Molucca, Sipapare, Australasia, beginning with the vast Island of New Holland; then Western Australia, South Australia, and Van Dieman's Land. In South Africa, the Cape of Good Hope, Mauritius. In the Isle of France, St. Helena, Ascension; in Western Africa, Sierra Leone and Gambia; and we must not forget the colony of New Zealand and settlement of Hongkong. Finally, there are the British colonies of Europe, Gibraltar, Gozo, and the Ionian Isles, besides the colony of Heligoland in the North Sea—Fernando Po and Aden in the Red Sea, and the Island of Scotia.
